TUESDAY MORNING, MAY 3, 1910.

The Selection of Mr. Kern.

The Indiana Democrats got together and selected John W. Kern for United States senator. Tom Taggart, who wanted a primary and he was right in this) gracefully accepted the result and there is a good chance for Kern to defeat Beveridge. On this question the Memphis News-Scimitar says:

The Democrats of Indiana are to be congratulated upon the success of their state convention. At the outset there was some heavy infighting, but before adjournment peace prevailed and harmony held the situation in its embracing arms. A tip-top platform was adopted, plain, frank and positive. The convention decided to nominate a candidate for United States senator. The final decision between Albert J. Beveridge, the Republican nominee, and John W. Kern, the Democratic nominee, will be made by the voters of Indiana. This is of course along the right line. The last senatorial contest, which named Mr. Shively, was in a caucus of Democratic legislators. It was long drawn out and the usual charges and counter charges of corruption and improper influences were made. To the people, therefore, the coming contest shall go.

Mr. Kern is a man of splendid character and distinguished ability. He is a progressive in his Democracy and may be implicitly relied upon to truly represent his people should he be elected. He is a strong stumper and though he did not covet the honor, now that it has been thrust upon him, will contribute his full share in the fighting which is to come.

His opponent is an able man and an orator. He is young and has been a strong senator. He stood with the insurgents in the great tariff fight in 1909, and was one of the nine who voted against the Aldrich-Payne tariff measure. The people of Indiana are just proud of him and his political friends will put forth the strongest efforts to secure his re-election. It is by no means certain, however, that he can poll the entire Republican vote, as the old guard of the state resent his insurgency.

However, it is sure to be a most interesting contest, with the chances seemingly very much with the Democrats.

The Democratic spirit seems to be catching new life all over the land, and if recent results in other states may be taken as meaning anything, then we need not be surprised if Indiana voters decide to take an out-spoken Democrat in preference to a just-as-good. Beveridge is alright in many respects and if we must have a Republican the country would fare better under the guidance of the Beveridge brand, but when there's a chance to put in a good old time Democrat he should be chosen of course.

A Doubtful Census.

The Asheville, (N. C.) Citizen is one of the first newspapers of the country to express the fear that our population isn't being counted right. Other papers over the country are of the same opinion and are openly asserting that large numbers of people have been missed by the census enumerators.

We quite agree with our Carolina contemporary that it is deplorable that in an undertaking so costly, and upon which the future prosperity of our great cities so much depends, as the taking of the national census there should be any doubt about its correctness.

The Citizen says further: Perhaps our whole census system is wrong in that it is marred by the rule of political spoils which governs it. The office of enumerator is one that plainly requires intelligence, education and tact, yet it cannot be said that such qualifications are held by all enumerators; the contrary is the rule. Good party workers have the first call and good material of opposing political faith is overlooked in the distribution of the census appointments. Where the supply of competent material runs out "any old thing" is thrown in to fill the breach, with the result that the census returns in many sections are only half tabulated.

It is farcical to expect accurate results from such conditions, and they apply not only to one section, but all over the country. There is imminent danger that many cities will be largely misrepresented in the matter of population when the census returns are published, if some eleven hour effort is not made to rectify the errors of carelessness and incompetence.

We are not yet ready to pronounce the taking of the census in 1910 as a complete farce, but to do so would be no greater error than to say that the work has been thorough. It is extremely regrettable that a better system for counting the people of the great United States is not in vogue.

They Grow Hair

Certain Ingredients if Properly Combined, Stimulate Human Hair Growth.

Resorcin is one of the most effective hair destroyers ever discovered. Beta-naphthol is a most powerful, yet absolutely safe germicide and antiseptic, which prevents development of germ matter, and creates a clean, healthy condition.

Pilocarpine, although not a coloring matter or dye, is an ingredient well established for its power to restore natural color to human hair.

There, because of its well-defined softening and cleansing properties, is most useful in the treatment of scalp and hair diseases. Glycerine acts as a stimulant to the hair bulbs, and has a soothing, healing and nourishing influence. Alcohol is indispensable in medicine because of its antiseptic, stimulating and preservative qualities. Resall "93" Hair Tonic is chiefly composed of these ingredients, which are compounded in a peculiar form, and we believe it is the most effective remedy known to medical science for scalp and hair troubles generally. We personally guarantee it to eradicate dandruff and scalp irritations and to grow hair, even though the scalp is sore to bare of hair, providing of course there is life and vitality remaining in the hair roots.

We want every one troubled with scalp disease, dandruff or loss of hair to try Resall "93" Hair Tonic. If it does not remove dandruff and promote a growth of hair to the satisfaction of the user, we will without question or quibble return every cent paid for the purchase. This guarantee is printed on every package. It has effected most satisfactory results in 93 out of 100 cases where put to a practical test.

Resall "93" Hair Tonic is entirely unlike and in every particular different from anything else we know of for the purpose for which it is recommended. We urge you to try it at our entire risk. Certainly we could offer no better guarantee. Two sizes, 50 cents and $1.00. Sold in Pensacola only at our store—The Rexall Store, The Crystal Pharmacy, Brent Building.

FOURTEEN DOGS DIED DURING APRIL

Fourteen dogs were officially reported dead yesterday when the city clerk was informed by the garbage contractor that deceased animals to that number had been taken from the streets and had been consigned to the garbage heap. At the rate of 25 cents per head, this made the check of the garbage contractor $3.50 higher this month than formerly. This is the first time the dogs have been paid for, but the city gets off cheap at that. A contract was recently made with the garbage contractor to pick up dead dogs from the streets at 25 cents per head. In the past a dray was sent to pick them up, at an average cost of about one dollar. The bill of the contractor was paid with evident pleasure.

NEGRO IS BADLY CUT BY HIS FRIEND

A negro named Jerry Walker was badly cut at a brick-making plant in the country Sunday afternoon and the act was said to have been done by another negro named Arnold, who was arrested late in the afternoon by Sheriff Van Pelt. After a long chase, the sheriff hunted for him all through the northern part of the county, using an automobile for the purpose, finally seeing and recognizing him near Cottage Hill. Fourteen stitches were required to draw the wound together and Walker is now at a sanitarium in this city.

SNAKE NIPPED LITTLE FINGER OF PETE. HILES

COPPER-BELLIED MOCCASIN, PAINFUL WOUND UPON HAND OF WELL KNOWN MAN.

Peter Hiles, the well known janitor at the city hall, carries a painful little finger and an arm in a sling today as a result of quite an experience early Sunday. He was bitten on the little finger by a copper-bellied moccasin at his home, No. 520 West Main street, early Sunday forenoon, but immediate precautions were taken, and it was announced yesterday that he is completely out of danger. The wound was painful, however, and the arm was swollen so badly yesterday that, although he showed up for duty at the city hall, he could not do any great amount of work, and was excused for the day after a short stay in the building.

Mr. Hiles was at his home Sunday morning and started to drag a board from under his house. The snake, a big fellow, must have either been resting on or under the board, for he had hardly clasped the board before the snake struck him, the fangs being imbedded in two distinct places in his little finger. He saw the reptile in a moment, and had the nerve to kill it before seeking assistance himself.

Then, having dispatched the snake, he went into the house and calmly announced that he had been bitten by the reptile and asked for assistance. E. A. Kemble, the landscape gardener, arrived at Mr. Hiles's home about this time and he was told by the gentleman of the trouble. Mr. Kemble knew that the safest way to stop danger was to stop the blood from getting through the system, and he at once drew a tight cord around the bitten finger, drawing it tightly and so effectively as to stop the blood. In killing the snake, however, some little time was lost and the blood circulated through Mr. Hiles's body. That caused the arm to swell during the day. After binding the finger, Mr. Hiles was required to suck the blood from the wound after which the doctor was consulted.

BIG STEAMER NOW IN PORT

THE VICTORIAN, OF LEYLAND LINE, CALLS AT PENSACOLA TO TAKE PARTIAL CARGO FOR LIVERPOOL.

People along the water front yesterday were much interested in the arrival and movements of the big British steamship Victorian, one of the Leyland Line boats, which reached this port after an uneventful voyage of five days from New York. The Victorian is a vessel of 5,799 tons, and as she swung at her anchor chains a few hundred yards off the railroad docks, many persons saw and admired her magnificent appearance. The vessel comes for the purpose of taking part cargo for Liverpool, and will go to either New Orleans or Galveston to complete cargo.

This is the largest vessel that has been here for some months, and of

UNEQUALED S.S.S. FOR BAD BLOOD

Normal, healthy blood contains millions of tiny red corpuscles, which are the vitalizing and nourishing element of the circulation. These corpuscles are constantly forming in healthy systems by the extraction of nutriment from food eaten, and this nutriment is then supplied through the circulation to every portion of the system. Any system which does not receive the proper amount of blood nourishment is not prepared to withstand the countless disorders that assail it. Bad blood can not nourish the body, the circulation must be pure, rich and strong if we would enjoy good health. Bad blood manifests itself in various ways. With some it takes the form of skin diseases and eruptions, others become bilious and malarious, with sallow complexions, torpid liver, etc. If the germs and impurities in the blood are of a more virulent nature then bad blood becomes more serious and produces Rheumatism, Catarrh, Sores and Ulcers, and like troubles. Nothing equals S. S. S. for bad blood. It is Nature's own blood purifier, made from roots, herbs and barks. It goes into the circulation and removes every impurity or poison, strengthens and enriches the blood, and in this way supplies the body with the proper amount of nutriment to maintain good health. S. S. S. is likewise the finest of all tonics and while purifying the blood builds up every portion of the system. S. S. S. cures every ailment coming from bad blood, and it does so simply because it purifies the circulation. Book on the blood sent free to all who write.
